Professor Marcelo Rebelo de Sousa elected once again as President of Portugal

The EPLO warmly congratulates Professor Marcelo Rebelo de Sousa for his winning for the second time the presidential election in Portugal on January 24, 2021.

Professor Marcelo Rebelo de Sousa is a long-standing and active Member of the European Group of Public Law, the Scientific Council and think tank of the EPLO. The former leader of the Social Democratic Party and President of the Portuguese Republic since 2016, won 61 percent of the vote, improving on the 52 percent he had secured in 2016.

The EPLO is honored to have him among his Members and wishes him success and strength in this highly prestigious appointment.
